“The Magic Flute”
at Bedales School on 10th July 2011

On Sunday July 10th 2011, Oyster Opera will perform The Magic Flute in English translation by Stephen Fry in aid of CPRE.

The 'Glyndebourne style' opera (optional black tie) will take place in the wonderful setting of Bedales School at Steep, near Petersfield. The performance will take place in the professional standard theatre and the lovely grounds of this famous school are available for a picnic.

A glass of bubbly will be offered to guests on arrival and then the chance to enjoy their own picnic in the grounds during the interval.

Please note, if it rains on the day picnicking and welcome drinks can be accommodated under covered areas within the school grounds.

Mozart's last opera, The Magic Flute, first performed in 1791, is essentially a fairy-tale opera - a sublime blending of the serious and comic. Set in Egypt - a magic land of handsome princes, demonic queens, evil abductors, serpents and the supernatural - we observe a beguiling story of lovers in jeopardy, as transparent as any pantomime.

Optional Black Tie. Tickets: £40 and £50
From CPRE Offices. Phone: 01962 779185
